City of St. George Energy Services Department and Water Services Department use Twitter to deliver information.

St. George, UT. – There are two City of St. George Twitter accounts with information on the George Water Services and Energy Services Departments and updates.

Information on water and energy conservation programs and Water Service Department updates is available on sgcitywne.

Water Services Department Barry Barnum indicated “Twitter is an effective means of posting updates to conservation programs to many of our customers that use social media.”

The Energy Services Department (SGESD) has a new Twitter with information regarding power interruptions at sgcitypower.

Phillip Solomon, Energy Services Department, commented “we want to provide timely information to our customers through as many outlets as possible. Using Twitter is one more avenue to provide customers with pertinent information quickly.”
